and annual leave, performance development/management, coordination of staff development programs and management of designated portfolios.

The NUM must provide robust clinical leadership and management expertise, to be an active mentor, role model, and to facilitate the development of clinical and management skills in all staff consigned within their responsibility. The NUM will work alongside the team to ensure that their robust clinical leadership and administrative capability and presence on the Ward/Unit, with daily rounding to all patients.

Attributes for effective NUM Leadership include:

- Being visible and accessible in the clinical area to the multidisciplinary clinical team, consumers and service users, for example by being available to visitors and enabling team members to ask questions
- Working alongside the team in a collaborative capacity, for example by supporting junior colleagues with the provision of direct care, fostering a culture of learning and discovery, maintaining their clinical practice as part of the roster
- Monitoring and evaluating standards of care provided by the multidisciplinary clinical team, for example enabling reflective review at staff handover, bringing staff together to review clinical and workforce data and conducting ward-based nursing audits
- Providing regular feedback to the nursing clinical team on standards of nursing care provided and experience by consumers and service users, for example by giving feedback at the end of each interaction with nursing staff, at the end of the shift or in handover and using consumer survey results to drive change
- Creating a culture of learning, development and research that will sustain best care, for example by ensuring there are systems in place to evaluate and develop nursing practice, support shared governance and decision making and enhance individual/team performance to improve consumer care delivery and enhance the consumer experience
- The NUM will foster a culture of inclusiveness, trust, flexibility, accountability and continuous quality improvement. The role will work collaboratively to ensure improvements and ideas support best care, strategic priorities and a consumer-focused philosophy

The NUM will contribute to providing quality health and well-being services for our consumers demonstrating proficient to expert behaviours across the five domains of leadership, research, evidence-based practice, education & learning and clinical expertise as identified in the Western Health Nursing and Midwifery Professional Practice Framework.

Business Unit Overview

The Division of Aged, General Medicine and Subacute Services delivers high-quality health care for patients across various acute and subacute inpatient units, including Acute Aged Care, General Medicine, Geriatric Evaluation Medicine, Rehabilitation services, Transition Care Services and Residential Aged Care at multiple Western Health sites.

The division plays a crucial role in the health care continuum, offering acute care in emergency departments and inpatient wards through to subacute care and community support.

The clinical teams also offer vital consultation services to all areas of the health service and the community. These services are designed to align with patient-centred goals, focusing on enhancing independence and managing chronic conditions within a framework of shared decision making.

With a diverse workforce, the Division also ensures timely access to care through its Subacute and Non-acute Assessment and Pathways (SNAP) service, facilitating smooth transitions between care settings for individuals.
